

CBC CATALYST WORKSHOP

Wednesday, February 13, 2013

11:00 AM – 12:00 PM

Molecular Biology Research Building (MBRB), 4th Floor, Room 4300
University of Illinois at Chicago, 900 S Ashland Ave, Chicago, IL 60607

Chicago Biomedical Consortium (CBC) invites faculty members at UIC, Northwestern, and UChicago to attend a Workshop on the CBC Catalyst Award program. The Catalyst program offers funding of up to $200K for new inter-institutional collaborative research projects. Projects should focus on systems biology, as broadly defined, and aim to address an important biological/biomedical question.

This workshop aims to demystify the Catalyst program and help the CBC community members prepare strong proposals for the next deadline (March 6, 2013) and beyond. Principal investigators from UIC who received CBC Catalyst Awards will present case studies to illustrate successful collaborations and proposals, and a member of the CBC Scientific Review Board will provide a reviewer's perspective. CBC personnel will be available to answer questions.

The Catalyst program is described on the CBC website:
